Will Observe Land Improvement At Field Meeting Next Tuesday

County Agricultural Agent S. W. Anderson has announced a field meeting for next Tuesday, May 4 starting at 1 o'clock p.m., several points in the central section of the County will be covered. Mr. C. H. Johnson will lead a panel of speakers at the College of Agriculture, will accompany Mr. Anderson and take part in the discussions, covering methods of improving land with pasture mixtures, fertilizers and weed control practices.

The group will assemble at 1 o'clock at Clarence Bell's Farm, located on the Springfield Club Farm on Indian Trail Road, between Poplar Level and Old Shepherd's Road, south of Buechel. They will then inspect pasture land in the Fescue.

Leaving this farm at 2 o'clock, a visit will be made at George Eady's farm on Hurstbourne Lane. There at 2:30 the group will have a picnic. The group now 2 years old. They will also inspect improved pastures and study a soil building program that has increased the productivity of this land 300% in 10 years.

Leaving Eady's at 3:30 the farmers will proceed to Hurstbourne to inspect large acreage of Fescue and Large Clover and observe results of spraying with 2, 4-D for weed control; also inspect a home-made manure spreader for applying 2, 4-D for weed control or spraying corn for corn borer control.

Throughout the afternoon the discussions will cover methods of improving land through the use of improved pasture mixtures, fertilizers and weed control practices. In announcing the meeting, Mr. Anderson said the results of interest will be seen and discussed. All are welcome.

For further information interested parties are invited to call the County Agent's office, WABA 9338.

To Select Soloist To Appear With Orchestra

Auditions are announced in a state-wide contest being sponsored by the Louisville Philharmonic Society to select an outstanding local instrumental soloist. June 10 is the date set for the Louisville area.

Vol. 41 No. 50

40 YEARS AGO

Forestry was the subject of discussion in a three-column article on Page 1 of the Jeffersonian, west of April 30, forty years ago. Facts recalled by Fredrick Cleveland, Jr., of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. covered other countries than our own, but remained that forestry is not a new question—indeed, more than a thousand years old. Progressive countries have made great advances in recent years in forest conservation and reforestation virtually a science. Losses from forest fires annually go to big figures, but man's role in these disastrous fires can be minimized. Timber loss is a needless loss and it takes years for recovery.

Deforestation—almost total destruction of plant life—lasts for years and only now are steps being taken to end the wanton waste. The countries of Europe are better. They are more in touch with the situation and use intelligent methods. Canada, our neighbor to the north, is still rich in timber, though much is cut every year.

In America, combined with value of the forests of the United States are "without parallel in the world," the expert said. Furthermore, there was a lack of our transportation facilities "which would enable us to make every forest region available." Good management of our forest areas save waste. Preservation of our forests and the prevention of forest fires is a good investment for any state, it was declared. . . .

"Women," was the chief subject in the letter this week from "A. B. C." of St. Matthews. "They wear 'Mary' Widows and do not foolish things, but we have to have them," it was.

Late hairdressing—Japanese style of tall coiffures—was distressing the dames of the neighborhood. But the ladies are hard to be considered against the general protest. "We thought the 'pompadour' dreadful, and it was," Ursula said, and parsons "will not be needed." You can see the correspondent says "the Merry Widows have all that's necessary to shield us from our sins, but we are not formalists looking objects." Consulting with the observation that the editor will say that the woman question had momented the paper, "I am not a formalist," A. B. C. added, a parting shot in rhyme with:

"Talk about a woman's sphere!

"If it has a limb—

"There's not a blessing or a woe, or birth,

"That's not a life, or death, or birth."

That has a feather's weight of importance.

Without a woman in it."

D. S. O. Eades, returning from a month's trip in the west, visiting the state of Washington, San Francisco, Colorado, Denver, Colorado and Salt Lake City, Utah, says Kentucky pleases him better. While there are differences in the climate, in the moment, the Kentuckian eventually is pleased to be heading home. What, Dr. Eades says, is the chief difference between Kentucky and the West? The West sent an expert for examination, while the boy was to be taken to Cincinnati for treatment. The doctor said the dog was the dog was bad. Julius Caesar was the topic of discussion at the Current Events Club meeting at the home of Mrs. A. V. Thompson.

The High School Readers from the play by William Shakespeare were a feature.

Mrs. Bertha Fairfax, wife of James Fairfax, a prominent farmer in Spring, had a bumper crop in which she was riding when the dog was bad. Julius Caesar was the topic of discussion at the Current Events Club meeting at the home of Mrs. A. V. Thompson.

"WAR TALK" GETS DEFENSE MONEY

The persistent "war talk" which has been going on of late at least has had the effect of getting some money" in big sums, despite the fact that most of us were hoping the subject before the world should rather be "peace."

The war talk has, of course, brought a certain amount of fear and this has had its intrinsic value to those who use or have used it for business or political purposes. Our last war cost this nation more than three hundred billion dollars, not to speak of its "blood, sweat, and tears." We still owe on the nation's debt more than two hundred billion dollars.

But the war will probably cost as much, if not more, in money alone, and there should be no hurry for the plunge. Some say there will be no new war. Some say it may not come for years if at all. Many think intelligence can head it off—good leadership-diplomacy. At any rate few should try to hasten it and less talk about war and more thought of a new, a brighter, and a better world, and how to attain this, might serve to keep excited minds down. Then, who knows?—we might lose the next war—even with the atom bomb!

STASSEN'S STRENGTH IN G. O. P. CONTEST

Harold Stassen's recent uprise in his standing among the Republican presidential aspirants is causing political observers to take a more lively interest in his candidacy. The leaders are doubtful whether he has far to go in new pace will take him by convention time in Philadelphia.

Outdistancing all of his opponents in the Wisconsin and Nebraska primaries, he now shows up leading the field in a poll by Dr. George Gallup taken April 9 to 17. The poll shows that Stassen has more than doubled his strength from (15% to 31%) since the last Gallup poll, reported March 28.

"BIGGER-BETTER" EDUCATIONAL PLANTS

As in industrial production in the production of cultured human beings, operation en masse seems to be the accepted method for the modern age. Assemble the biggest pile of raw materials possible on the plant floor and then touch the button. Turn out a finished product with the least possible cost, in the most expeditious manner. Individuals beware; your wits may get caught in the wheels of learning.

More seriously speaking, small schools are evidently to be a thing of the past, according to the report made to the Jefferson County Board of Education by the Peabody Teachers' College of a survey made of the county's facts to produce. They say our four county high schools should provide the ideal set up, instead of the six now serving, and quite a large aggregate number attending Louisville high schools.

The strength of appeal, to most modern experts, by the bigness of things will probably be afforded great possibilities through the ever increasing and multiplying suburban population of this county's area. Our best wishes are extended to the administrators of what is to be a reorganized educational system.

Mt. Washington News | HOMEMAKER CLUBS

By Mrs. T. H. Parrish

MT. WASHINGTON

On Saturday, April 24, over 200 ladies of the Mt. Washington Home-Makers Club attended the North Central District meeting at Main High School in Louisville.

They were: Madames C. L. Stevens, S. F. Smith, Clyde Troutman, Sam C. Custer, Mrs. Darrow Johnson, M. R. Porter, Will Calvert, Marion Darster, Lloyd Tichenor, Leo Bleemel, W. R. Waggoner, Misses Eunice Sunter and Georgia Custer.

What a most portly day and after hearing reports from the several counties and hearing some of the state officers speak more than 200 ladies joined the Bullion Craft, making it possible to have more Home Demonstration Work and we certainly are most fortunate in having Miss Mary D. Porter as our Home Demonstration agent.

AUBURNDALE

The May meeting of Auburndale Home-Makers Club is set for Friday, May 7, at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Ray Betzold, New Cut Road.

"Death Valley Scotty" Still Is Alive

"Death Valley Scotty" a Kentuckian and a nationally known character of the old pioneer days of the country.

Some thought he was dead, so thought he was buried, and a quiet life in Death Valley in Southern California had such a tragic reputation in the days of the covered wagon. Hundreds of people made it and died in the dusty valley. Walter E. Scott, of Kentucky, went to California early in his 20s and died there.

He was thought to have owned a secret gold mine from which money was flowing as fast as it could be spent, but this has never been confirmed.

He was a quiet, simple man, full of good health, well along in his seventies.

Some thought he was dead, so thought he was buried, and a quiet life in Death Valley, where he has a "castle" which took seven years to build.

Scotty was well known to those who from year to year used to see him in the "Death Valley" Bill Parade.
